DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Davitt et al (4,419,154) in view of Taylor et al(3,291,664).

Davitt et al discloses a delay composition comprising 15-60 % barium sulfate, 25-75 % red lead and 5-40 % of silicon. Davitt further states that the inclusion of red lead speeds up the burning time of the composition.

Taylor et al teaches the use of up to 5 % sodium carboxymethyl cellulose with a delay composition.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use less red lead to result in a lower burning rate. Since Davitt teaches that the inclusion of red lead would speed up the burning rate, it would conversely decrease if less red lead were used. It would have been obvious to use the binder as taught by Taylor with the delay composition of Davitt since Taylor suggests that the binder is useful in delay compositions. The surface area and particle size are inherent properties of the delay composition. It would also be obvious to vary the amounts of the ingredients to optimize the performance of the delay composition. It is well-settled that optimizing a result effective variable is well within the expected ability of a person of ordinary skill in the subject art. In re Boesch, 617 F.2d 272, 205 USPQ 215 (CCPA 1980), In re Aller, 220 F.2d 454, 105 USPQ 233 (CCPA 1955).

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues that Davitt does not disclose the amount of red lead as claimed. Davitt discloses that increasing the amount of red lead increases the burn rate and conversely that lesser amounts of red lead would lower the burn rate. The fact that the Examiner has a different reason for obviousness is irrelevant. The fact that applicant has recognized another advantage which would flow naturally from following the suggestion of the prior art cannot be the basis for patentability when the differences would otherwise be obvious. See Ex parte Obiaya, 227 USPQ 58, 60 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 1985). Davitt does show that the amount of red lead is a result effective variable by showing that changing the levels of it can result in change in the burn rate. Applicant also argues that it is not obvious to use the binder that is taught by Taylor. The Examiner disagrees; the binder taught in Taylor is used in an initiating composition. It would be obvious to use the binder as taught since Taylor suggests that the binder is useful in delay compositions.

The declaration under 37 CFR 1.132 filed 7/5/2006 is insufficient to overcome the rejection of the claims as set forth in the last Office action. It refers only to the system described in the above referenced application and not to the individual claims of the application. Thus, there is no showing that the objective evidence of nonobviousness is commensurate in scope with the claims. See MPEP § 716. In view of the foregoing, when all of the evidence is considered, the totality of the rebuttal evidence of nonobviousness fails to outweigh the evidence of obviousness.

Conclusion

4. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
